STUDENT TECHNICIAN/GRADUATE POSITION: COMPOSITES RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

NIAR's Composites and Advanced Materials Laboratory supports a variety of NASA, FAA, DoD and Industry research programs specializing in Composites and Advanced materials. If you are looking to work on cutting-edge research programs conducting Finite Element Analysis (FEM), component testing data analysis, novel Non-Destructive Inspections (NDI). We are currently looking for a WSU student to hire in a paid part-time position.

Duties:
- Conduct Finite Element Analysis
- Element and Component Testing
- Non-Destructive Inspections
- Collaboration with other researchers

Qualifications:
- Available 20-30 hours per week
- Strong attention to detail
- Team-oriented
- Great communication skills
- Self-motivated and willing to take initiative

Contact: info@niar.wichita.edu

About Wichita State University

Learn. Work. Live. Play. Envision a place where creativity, innovation and entrepreneurship are valued – where a living/learning ecosystem has been custom-made to nurture your success. It’s a place where risk-taking and collaboration are not only accepted, but encouraged, and lessons extend beyond walls and campus boundaries to influence change on the grandest scale. Envision a place where tomorrow is being created today. If you have the passion, the creativity and the audacity to dream the biggest of dreams, your wait is over. The time is now and the place is Wichita State.